Microsoft Co-Pilot Research: Light research

- It is still @ its infancy, but people in the accounting reddit are skeptical about co-pilot because it still makes a lot of errors.
- It should be used to make our jobs easier, but we still need critical thinking skills and reading skills.
- We have to understand how to use Excel and know how the formulas work.

* Key: You can use AI to start your research, but it should prompt you to continue to go into deeper research. *

- It is being used, by the larger accounting companies.
- Major con
  - According to r/programming this could pose as a security risk.
  - Microsoft won't take responsibility for it.
  - It will be on the enterprise that utilizes it.
